Manager A. M. Palmer's series of "Little Lord l'auntieroy " matinees began yesterday at the Madison Square Theatre, and the house seemed to be filled with fond mammas, who chirruped with delight at the precocious Cedric's "cutenesses." Little Wallie Eddinger, the bright boy who played a part in the lat Mrs. Mary Hewins Fiske's "Philip Herne," was the little lord. He gave an intelligent performance, but seemed to lack the finished training that Elsie Leslie received. Still Wallic was that Elsie Lesiie received. Still Wallie was distinctly acceptable, and his reading of the letter from Mr. Hobbs was a capital piece of work. T. H. Gilmour was the Earl of Dorincourt; F. F. Mackay, Havisham; Russell Bassett, Mr. Holba; B. W. Songer, Dick; Miss Isabel Evesson, Mrs. Errol; Miss Emily Lytton, Minute, and Miss Annie Gregory Allen, Mary. These matiness will be given every Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by arrangement with T. Henry French.

George Ullmer is to take a 'Bootles's Baby company to the South in three weeks' time.

On the steamer City of New York, which will have sailed out of New York Harbor before the gentle teaders of this column are confronted by this paragraph, Alexander Comstock, Mrs. Alexander Comstock and Mr. Teddy Marks depart for Europe, the Constocks to be away for five weeks, Mr. Marks to remain until February.

F. T. Low has enlarged the New York Amusement Gazette, and also improved it, printing a page portrait on the first page instead of the last. Mr. Low's paper, printing the casts at the theatres each week, lends itself to the formation of a useful book of reference.

Kelcey was on Broadway yesterday. Perhaps this pleasing news is told too abruptly. Sudden joy, as we know, is occasionally as disastrous as rudden grief. Kelcey has been on tour for a very long time. Perhaps his appearance was a tuffe more provincial yesterday than of yore. But he will polish himself up and meet all requirements. Be sure of that, ber.

Manager Proctor, of the Twenty-third Street Theatre, controls ten play-louses, and it is quite interesting to look at the dramatic food for one week provided by this energetic caterer. At his home theatre "Shenandoah" is still the attraction; at his theatre in Brooklyn, F. D. Charles Erin Verner is playing; at his Grand Opera-House, Boston, "The Bells of Hasiemere chime; at his Grand Opera-House, Wilmincton, Del., "A Royal Pass," Januauchek and Robert B. Mantell divide the week between them; at the Lynn Theatre, J. B. Polk and John A. Stovens present their attractions; at the house in Albany, Miss Fanny Davenport prevails; in New Haven, Charles T. Ellis and "Alone in Loudon" are offered for three nights each, while in Hartford and Bridgeport Mr. Proctor has other novelties.

Prof. Herrmann was in town yesterday. He is on the eve of departure for St. Paul, where he continues his veason. The Professor was in high feather. He had just received a telegram from the Treasurer of his Transatiantione vaudeviles, announcing that they had received an ovation in Norfolk, vs. Herrmann will have two vaudeville companies on the road next season, the present organization and another containing a number of new features and Trewey. The Transatiantiques have coined money so far.

Lew Rosen, the well-known dramatic writer, author of "Grisette." is at work upon a new novel, which is to have a rather sensational title, and is to be dramatized shortly after its appearance. It will not be ready before February.

A World's Fair Matince.

A special matinee performance of "Erminie will be given at the Casino on Tuesday, Nov. 26, the entire proceeds of which will be set aside as a subscription to the Guarantee Fund for the World's Fair. Mr. Rudolph Aronson has suggested to Mayor Grant the feasibility of other city managers doing likewise, and what-ever interest may accuse from the investment to be donated to the Actors' Fund, and the total to be donated to the Actors' Fund, and the total amount to be given to that institution in case the Fair is held elsewhere. "Erminie" will be prought out next Wednesday evening, Nov. 20. The opening sair of seafs commences this morning at 10. As the opera will have reached its twelve hundredth performance on next Wednesday, the occasion will be marked by the distribution of specially imported souvenirs.

and I am told is quite descrying.

Mrs. Domuch, going to her drawer brings out several neatly-laundered garments and presents them.

Mrs. Makeshow—Dear me, you do not mean to give such garments as those, do you? Why, they are real good and almost new. Haven't you something that is of no use?

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS.

HEAVY SLUGGING EXPECTED AT THE HAR-VARD-PRINCETON FOOTBALL GAME.

While Harvard ought to have a winning football team this Fall in view of the magnificent material of which it is composed, yet Yale and Princeton men are, in reality, positive that Harvard will be defeated in both big games. Harvard would not feel flattered if she could hear the private criticisms made by Yale and Prince-

There is very great interest manifested in the fought (not' 'played'') next Saturday on Holmes's Field, Cambridge. Princeton is going up there with the avowed intention of "getting square" for Harvard's action in objecting to the composition of the Princeton team. Therefore there is little doubt but that "muckerish" action will characterize the "play "of both teams.

Mike Cushing realizes that he will meet a most formidable opponent in the ring in the young l'aterson boxer. Austin Gibbons, and has begun to train in carnest for the pugilistic event of the season.
